- Muhamad Harfi Ibadurahman (Front End)
- Axelle Chandra (CySec)
- Miera Ardiyanti Farica (Game Development)

Overview

The goal of this project is to develop a web-based guideline platform to support the External Affairs (EA) division of OmahTI in communicating more effectively with potential clients. Currently, the EA team struggles to approach potential clients due to the lack of a well-designed and accessible guidebook that explains the collaboration process, service offerings, proposal submission flow, and sponsorship terms. To address this issue, the team is creating an online platform that will serve as a central reference point for clients and partners.

The website will present:

- An introduction to OmahTI and its organizational background.
- A breakdown of OmahTI's four main focus areas: Product, Services, Competition, and Skill Development.
- Terms and conditions for media sponsorship.
- A clear 4-step project submission process.

This digital guidebook aims to streamline communication, build trust with external stakeholders, and increase project acquisition efficiency for OmahTI.

Problem

The External Affairs (EA) team at OmahTI is experiencing difficulties in approaching potential clients—individuals or organizations interested in submitting IT-related projects such as website development and mobile applications. This challenge stems from the absence of a well-organized, professionally designed guidebook that outlines the collaboration process, service offerings, and proposal requirements. Without a clear and accessible reference, client outreach efforts are less effective and often lead to misunderstandings. To address this, a centralized digital platform is needed to host a client-facing guidebook, streamlining communication and proposal submission.

Objectives

1. Facilitate Client and Sponsor Engagement
Build a centralized website that helps external parties easily understand how to collaborate with OmahTI.
2. Improve Communication Quality
Present information in a clear, organized, and visually professional format to strengthen OmahTI's image and credibility.
3. Clarify Services and Areas of Focus
Clearly explain OmahTI's main areas—Product Development, Services, Competitions, and Skill Building—so users can find relevant opportunities.
4. Simplify the Proposal Submission Process
Provide a step-by-step guide to ensure that clients and sponsors know exactly how to start working with OmahTI.
5. Support the External Affairs Team
Reduce repetitive explanations and make it easier for the team to respond to inquiries and send out proposals.
6. Set Clear Expectations for Sponsorship
Outline the terms and conditions for media sponsorship in a transparent way to avoid misunderstandings and streamline agreements.

Constraints

Roadblocks, realities, and dependencies that limit how ambitious you can be with this project. Whether it's time, money, or engineering capability, be clear about the limits of this project.

1. Financial limitation
2. Limited development time
3. Limited access to client feedback early on

Persona

Key Persona	Description Key Persona
"Startup"	Raka Wijaya is a 27-year-old founder of a small fintech startup. He is looking for a reliable, affordable partner to help build his product, such as a website or mobile app. As someone with limited time, Raka needs a platform that clearly explains the services OmahTI offers and how to submit a project proposal without going through complex communication. He prefers a modern, user-friendly website where he can quickly understand the process and get started. His main frustration is receiving unclear or outdated information, which causes delays and confusion.

“Event Sponsorship”	Dina Santosa is a 23-year-old public relations officer organizing a university tech event. She is seeking media sponsorship from organizations like OmahTI to help increase visibility and attract more participants. Her main concern is understanding the terms and expectations of the sponsorship clearly before submitting a request. Dina values fast communication and clear guidelines, as delays can affect her event timeline. She often uses her mobile phone to access websites and looks for concise information and contact points she can quickly act on.

Use Cases

Scenario 1 - Submitting A Project Proposal

Actor: Prospective Client (e.g., startup founder, organization representative)

Goal: To understand the collaboration process and submit a project proposal to OmahTI.

Flow:

1. User visits the OmahTI guideline website.
2. User reads the introduction and service offerings.
3. User views the “4-Step Submission Process” section.
4. User prepares the required materials (e.g., project brief).
5. User follows the steps and clicks the link/form to submit the proposal.
6. EA team receives and reviews the proposal.

Success Criteria:

The user completes the submission without needing to ask for additional guidance.

Scenario 2 - Reviewing Media Sponsorship Terms

Actor: Event Organizer or Public Relations Officer

Goal: To review and understand OmahTI’s media sponsorship terms before making a partnership request.

Flow:

1. User visits the OmahTI guideline website.
2. User navigates to the “Media Sponsorship” section.
3. User reads the sponsorship terms, benefits, and responsibilities.
4. User clicks on a contact form or submission button.
5. User fills out and submits the sponsorship request.

Success Criteria:

The user clearly understands what OmahTI offers and expects in a media sponsorship.

Scenario 3 - Learning About OmahTI's Focus Areas

Actor: Potential client, sponsor, or collaborator

Goal: To explore OmahTI's main areas of expertise and decide whether to collaborate.

Flow:

1. User visits the homepage of the website.
2. User reads the "About OmahTI" section.
3. User navigates to the section explaining OmahTI's four focus areas: Product, Services, Competition, and Skill Development.
4. User decides whether to proceed with a proposal or sponsorship request based on this information.

Success Criteria:

The user gains a clear understanding of OmahTI's capabilities and potential collaboration points.

Features In

- About OmahTI section
A brief explanation of who we are and what we do.
- Service Overview
Clear descriptions of OmahTI's offerings: skill development, competitions, services, and products.
- 4-Step Proposal Submission Guide
A visual or step-by-step breakdown of how to submit a project to OmahTI.
- Sponsorship Terms Page
A page that explains the conditions, expectations, and benefits of becoming a media partner.
- Contact List
A dedicated section that lists contact information for the External Affairs division and OmahTI, including:
 - OmahTI's Instagram
 - OmahTI's Twitter
 - External Affairs division's WhatsApp

Features Out

- Live Chat Support
Real-time chat would require extra tools and human availability.
- User Login/Authentication
The site will be fully open without login to keep it simple and fast.
- Automated Proposal Tracking
For now, submission tracking will be handled manually by the EA team.

Design

The design will follow a clean and modern layout to ensure clarity and accessibility. Visual hierarchy will be used to guide users through the content. A consistent color scheme and typography will reflect OmahTI's branding.

Success Metrics

We will consider the EA website successful if:

1. At least 100 people visit the website in the first month.
2. At least 10 submissions (project proposals or sponsorship requests) are made through the site in 4 weeks.
3. EA team members use the website link in at least 50% of outreach messages.
4. Users understand the process clearly, with few or no repeated questions to the EA team.
5. Optional: Users leave positive feedback through a short satisfaction form at the end.

GTM Approach

Target Audience:

- Prospective clients looking to submit project proposals (e.g., startups, businesses, campus partners).
- Event organizers seeking media sponsorship or collaboration.
- Academic and industry partners interested in collaborative programs with OmahTI.

Launch Channels:

1. Website Banner
 - Add a banner or button on the main OmahTI website:
“Want to collaborate with OmahTI? Visit our EA Portal →”
2. Social Media Announcement
 - Post a short launch announcement on Instagram, LinkedIn, and WhatsApp groups.
 - Highlight ease of use and how it helps clients submit projects or request sponsorship.
3. Email Blast
 - Send a short, professional email to existing and potential partners with the EA website link.
4. Internal Use
 - The EA team will include the website in all outreach materials and responses. (email replies, DM responses, pitch decks).

Open Issues

- Need clarification on whether the site should support multiple languages (e.g., English and Indonesian).
- No analytics tool integrated yet to track visitor data.
